3. The hard surface roads are over two lanes wide and are in good condition. They are considered to be first class highways in Rumania. The roads are capable of absorbing heavy usage and have a solid foundation. The roads are asphalt surfaced.
4. A number of loose surface, dry weather dirt roads [937] run in the vicinity of Paucanu, Genes and Saig. In some areas the dirt roads are also classed as cart tracks. Both are over one lane in width and can occasionally bear heavy usage. The terrain through which the roads run is extremely hilly. The dirt roads have a natural foundation of gravel, rock and sand. However, when it rains transportation on the dirt roads is difficult because they become potholed and deeply rutted. When this occurs the traveler gets off the road and rides on the farm fields.
